

The Polish government's assault on judicial independence is part of a worldwide trend

Murray Hunt

In this op-ed piece, the Director of the Bingham Centre argues that the assault on judicial independence in Poland, with the passage of the Supreme Court Bill, is part of a global phenomenon, whereby populist leaders in a number of countries are steadily eroding the independence of the judiciary, which is a crucial aspect of the Rule of Law.

Read the full Opinion piece in the Washington Post

URL: <https://binghamcentre.biicl.org/comments/68/the-polish-governments-assault-on-judicial-independence-is-part-of-a-worldwide-trend>
